

Antiques & Collectables Websites - Made Easy!

CollectFair

64 Edward Street Flats

Sheffield S3 7GG

web: www.collectfair.co.uk

email: enquiries@collectfair.co.uk

---

PRESS RELEASE

Release date: August 2, 2005

Contact: David Fletcher

CollectFair for eBay sellers

CollectFair offers automatic display of current eBay items

From August 2005 CollectFair will be offering the automatically updated display of current eBay items on its on-line antiques & collectables "stalls". CollectFair members who sell on eBay will be able to include their auction listings on a special page of their stall. The page will automatically include each item's current price and finishing time, with links for buyers to bid by clicking through to eBay.

David Fletcher, developer of CollectFair comments: "To get the most out of a website or on-line stall it is important to keep it up-to-date. CollectFair is very pleased to be offering members the benefit of automatically displaying their current eBay items on the stall."

When a seller puts an item on eBay it will be listed automatically on their CollectFair stall without any further work. Combining auction listings with pages of information, news and non-auction items is a great way to interest buyers, making a CollectFair stall the ideal complement to real-world fairs and centres.

- ENDS -

Notes to Editors

CollectFair is a part of PicoPages Ltd, and was established in 2004 to develop a community of on-line "stalls" for people collecting, buying or selling antiques and collectables.

CollectFair has no joining fee, and is free to visit and browse. Free advertising supported stalls are available, with paid options starting from £19.99 per year. There are no fees to pay for buying or selling items.